

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Next may be practiced the last element in Sing, represented by ng, then the first in Go, the first in Thugh, represented by th, and here notice that the two simple elements of which this word is composed are represented, the first by two characters, and the second by four. Could each sound of our language have a single character to represent it, one of the greatest obstacles to its acquirement would be removed.

The first element in Do and the first in Bow require a good deal of practice, and to many the first element in Re is difficult of enunciation; this is sometimes described as the hard sound of R. The following elements need hardly be practiced separately, as they are not difficult to produce, and only require to be regulated by good taste. The first element in Zona, the first in Si, the first in Show, the first in Pa, the first in Re, the first in Wo, the first in Ye, the first in Taid, and the last in Rev. The first element in each of the following words, viz.: Pist, Tiv, and Come, cannot well be practiced separately. They should, however, receive attention in their proper connection. The following combinations are among the most difficult, and are excellent practice for the articulating organs.

Beginnings of syllables—Bl, cl, ek, fl, gl, pl, sl, sp, br, cr, fr, gr, pr, sp, tr, dr, str, shr, sm, sn, sp, and st. Ends of syllables—Ld, lf, lk, lm, lp, ls, lt, lv, m'd, ms, n'd, ns, nk, nt, rb, rd, rk, rn, rs, rt, rb'd, rk'd, rm'd, rn'd, rs'd, rv'd, ka, kt, fd, pt, p'd, p'h, k'n, v'n, lst, nat, ret, dat, rdst, mdst, rndst, fle, ple, dle, rl, pl'd, bl'd, sl'd, nga, ngst and gn'd. The pupils are now prepared to analyze the words they sing, and to understand which elements require more practice in order to a distinct and elegant articulation. In Lesson No. 1, questions might be asked as follows:—What is the first word of this Lesson? Ans Sing. Of how many elements is it composed? Ans Three. What is the first? the second? the third? Questions might be asked of the signs of these elements, or not, as the teacher thinks best.

A little time at each lesson, given to the practice of the more difficult of these vowel and consonant elements, would be well employed.

OF DIFFERENT QUALITIES OF TONE.

It is clear that as there are different feelings and emotions to be expressed by music, so there should be different qualities of tone for their expression. The emotions of joy, sorrow, reverence, fear, &c., should have their appropriate qualities of tone or others cannot be made to feel their power, whatever the words may be which give them form. Many singers make use of nearly the same quality of tone, varying it only dynamically for the expression of all they have to sing, and this is a reason why so much vocal music is unmeaning and ineffectual. Description can do nothing here, the pupil must feel, or imagine the feeling, each for himself, and the teacher must be able, by instruction and example, to show the quality of tone suitable for its expression. The singer should be so filled with the emotion he desires to express, that it will, so to speak, impregnate and characterize his tone. We can not teach expression, properly speaking, we can only help our pupils to acquire forms and means for expression, and to do this, as far as tone is concerned, the pupils should be accustomed to practice, with and without words, the different qualities alluded to, in single tones, melodies, or in whatever form the teacher chooses. In this, as in almost everything connected with vocal training, "it is but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous." It is easy to overdo and caricature this whole matter of expression; indeed, it would seem sometimes that this is done as a kind of substitute, when the singer does not possess true sentiment and feeling. It is, however, as easy to detect the counterfeit as it is impossible to mistake the ring of the true metal.

OF PHRASING, AND ACCENTUATION.

It may, perhaps, be proper to say that music has a meaning separate from words, and that in order to its development, stops or pauses are necessary, analogous to those which are observed in good reading.

As in reading, the meaning is changed and sometimes destroyed by stopping in the wrong place,* so in music is the sense and beauty injured or destroyed by the same means.

Take, for example, the following strain:

Try taking the breath or stopping after every measure, or after every other measure, and at other places. It will be found that the music has more sense, and is most agreeable when the breath is taken or the stops made where the commas are placed; the little divisions so formed are called phrases. Musical phrases, like phrases in language, are longer or shorter; in the following example some of these seem like mere ejaculation—

* The following line is an illustration of this. "A man having gone to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation;" by making the stop after wife, instead of sea, the meaning, in reading, is entirely changed.

Here there is no difficulty in deciding about the phrasing, the rests settle that. Some times, however, there is more than one way of phrasing or dividing the music, and the great thing in this connection is, so to comprehend the music, as first to know where the phrases are, and second, where there is more than one way of phrasing, to decide which is best. In music with words, the phrasing is to be regulated generally by the words, but sometimes the musical meaning is more important and the words must give way. In fact, the ordinary reading of the words, especially with reference to emphasis and pause, is often properly set aside or changed for purposes of musical effect, and still often should a compromise be made; especially is this the case when several verses are to be sung to the same music. It will be a good plan in the following lessons to sing sometimes without the words, with reference to the musical meaning, and the proper phrasing. Scales and many vocalizing exercises have no particular musical meaning or interest, and are phrased arbitrarily. They are like words put together without reference to ideas, merely for purposes of practice.

Accent in music is analogous to emphasis in language, and is closely connected with the subject of phrasing, since phrases depend much upon accent for their proper development. The regular accent of measure is the lowest form of expression, while the accent required for phrasing and emphasis in words is among the higher and more important.

OF STYLE IN PERFORMANCE

A practical knowledge of the foregoing subjects is necessary to a good style in singing, and in addition the singer must have flexibility of voice, must sing in time and in tune, must have at command the dynamic forms for expression; and, more than all, must have within that spark of living fire, which will alone give warmth and life to the whole.

So far as style in singing is acquired, it is so by imitation, and it is eminently true in this respect, that, as is the teacher, so will be the scholar, and those who have musical influence, whether as choristers, teachers or concert singers, have much to answer for, not only in the various bad styles of performance which prevail, but in the objectionable styles of music so extensively introduced. It is fully believed that this is in most cases the result of want of knowledge or thought on these subjects, and that a large proportion of choristers and teachers will walk in "a more excellent way" when they have found it. Finally, it is impossible to learn to sing by description, or by anything the eye can see. The system here presented can, therefore, only be wholly successful in the hands of a teacher competent to develop it in all its parts.

Longlines of text, possibly bleed-through or faint print, appearing above the main title.

ELEMENTS OF MUSIC.

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

§ 1. There are three departments in the elements of music, as follows:

1. RHYTHMICS, treating of the length of tones.
2. MELODICS, treating of the pitch of tones.
3. DYNAMICS, treating of the power of tones.

CHAPTER II.

RHYTHMICS.

§ 2. The relative length of tones is ascertained by a supposed division of time as it passes, into equal portions; these portions of time are called MEASURES, or PARTS OF MEASURES.

§ 3. Measures and parts of measures may be indicated, 1st, to the ear, by equally counting or telling over the parts, as one, two; one, two, &c.; and, 2d, to the eye, by motions of the hand called BEATS, or BEATING TIME.

§ 4. A measure with two parts, having an accent on the first part, is called DOUBLE MEASURE, as one, two; one, two, &c.

§ 5. A measure with three parts, having an accent on the first part, is called TRIPLE MEASURE; as one, two, three; one, two, three, &c.

§ 6. A measure with four parts, having an accent on the first and third parts, is called QUADRUPLE MEASURE; as one, two, three, four; &c.

§ 7. A measure with six parts, accented on the first and fourth parts, is called SIXTUPLE MEASURE.

§ 8. Measures are represented to the eye by interspaces between vertical lines; the dividing lines are called BARs.

§ 9. The relative length of tones is represented by characters called NOTES.

§ 10. Silence is indicated by characters called RESTs.

§ 11. There are several kinds of notes and rests in common use, as follows:—Whole note (Semibreve), Half note (Minim), Quarter note (Crotchet), Eighth note (Quaver), Sixteenth note (Semiquaver), and thirty-second (Demisemiquaver).

§ 12. By the addition of a dot, a note is made to represent a tone one-half longer than it does otherwise; thus, a dotted whole is equal to three halves, a dotted half is equal to three quarters, &c.

§ 13. The Quarter may be at first most conveniently taken as a standard of measurement, and from it the various lengths or forms of measure may be obtained; first, by the union of parts of measure, thus obtaining halves and wholes; and second, by a division of the parts of measure, thus obtaining eighths and sixteenths.

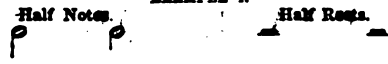

§ 14. Illustrations of the various forms of measure obtained by the union of parts of measure.

* Syncopees.

§ 16. When a tone commences on an unaccented part of a measure, and is continued on an accented part of a measure, it is called a SYNCOPE, or SYNCOPIATED TONE, and the note representing it is called a SYNCOPIATED NOTE. The syncooped tone should receive a strong accent.

DIVIDED PARTS OF A MEASURE.

§ 17. The parts of a measure may be divided so that two tones shall occur on one part, and the measure is then said to be in COMPOUND FORM. The form of measure heretofore explained may be called SIMPLE FORM.

§ 18. Compound form of measure may be either primitive or derived.

§ 19. Notes representing these shorter tones, as in compound primitive form of measure, are called EIGHTHS or QUAVERS.

EXAMPLE.

Eighth Notes. Eighth Rests. Eighth Notes.

§ 31. In the earlier singing exercises, the following syllables are used in connection with the tones of the scale:—

Do, Re, Mi, Fa, Sol, La, Si, Do.

NOTE.—The syllables are mostly designed for those who are musically weak, or who are yet in their pupilage; they should not be continued too long, nor relied upon too exclusively. The pupils should be cautioned against regarding them as names for the tones, and the teacher should be careful never to use them as such. The vowel, or vocal sound, best adapted to singing exercises, or to training the voice, is that of ah, being the same as is heard in the first syllable of the word father.

§ 32. The absolute pitch of tones is indicated by letters, as—A, B, C, D, E, F, G.

§ 33. The pitch C is taken at first as the basis, or as one of the scale, and the scale is then said to be in the Key of C. The order of the tones in the Key of C is as follows:—

C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C.

§ 34. The relative pitch of tones is represented by a character called the STAFF.

§ 35. The Staff consists of five lines, with their interspaces. Each line and each space is called a DEGREE; thus, the staff contains nine-degrees.

§ 36. The compass of the staff may be extended by the spaces below and above, and also by additional lines, called ADDED LINES.

§ 37. The scale may be represented in various positions on the staff.

§ 38. To fix the position of representing the scale, and to indicate absolute pitch, one of the letters is used as a guide, and when thus used it is called a CLEF.

§ 39. There are two clefs, or clef-letters, in common use: first, the F CLEF, placed upon the fourth line, and second, the G CLEF, placed upon the second line.

§ 40. The F clef is used for low male voices, or BASS; the G clef is used for high male voices, or TENOR, and also for female voices, both low and high, or ALTO and TREBLE. When used for Tenor voices, it signifies G an eighth or octave lower than when used for Alto or Treble.

NOTE.—The four parts are frequently represented on two staves, in which case the Tenor is written upon the same staff with the Bass, with the F clef.

EXTENSION OF THE SCALE AND CLASSIFICATION OF VOICES.

§ 41. When tones higher than eight are sung, eight is to be regarded not only in its relation to the tones below it, but, also, as one of an upper scale.

§ 42. When tones lower than one are sung, one is to be regarded as, also, eight of a lower scale.

§ 43. The whole vocal compass, or extent from low to high, may be thus represented.

NOTE 1.—Several tones may be added, either above or below, by cultivation.

NOTE 2.—The true pitch or relation of male and female voices should be clearly illustrated and explained in this connection. When this is understood, there can be no objections to the Bass and Tenor singing the lessons in the G clef, or to the Treble and Alto singing from the F clef, although the former may sing as heretofore, an octave lower, and the latter an octave higher, than the actual pitch represented.

§ 44. The human voice is naturally divided into four classes:

1. Low male voices, BASS.
2. High male voices, TENOR.
3. Low female voices, ALTO.
4. High female voices, TREBLE.

NOTE.—Besides the above, there are other distinctions, as BARYTONE between the Bass and Tenor, and MEZZO SOPRANO between the Alto and Treble. The Treble is often called SOPRANO.

EXAMPLES ILLUSTRATING THE TWO USES OF THE G CLEF.

The above examples, although they appear the same to the eye, are in reality, or to the ear, an octave apart, the Tenor being an octave below the Treble.

The above examples, although they appear different to the eye, are in reality, or to the ear, the same.

3. Examples illustrating the usual compass of the different classes of voices, the use of the clefs, and the relation of the different parts:

A B c d e f g a b c d e f g a b c d e f g

* This once marked small c, being about the center both of the vocal and also of the great of instrumental scale, is called the middle c.

INTERVALS.

NOTE.—A true knowledge of intervals can only be communicated through the ear. Names, definitions, or illustrations, may be given, while the pupil obtains no correct idea of the thing itself, which can only be acquired by a careful listening to tones, and comparison of them. The ear alone can appreciate or measure intervals. The subject is one which can not be understood until the ear has been considerably trained: this is the reason why it has not been presented earlier in this course. After intervals have been taught, the following definitions will be easily understood.

§ 45. The difference of pitch between any two tones is called an INTERVAL. Thus, the difference of pitch between one and two is an interval.

§ 46. In the regular succession of the scale, there are two kinds of intervals, larger and smaller.

§ 47. The larger scale-intervals are called STEPS; and the smaller scale-intervals are called HALF-STEPS.

§ 48. The intervals of the scale occur in the following order:—Between one and two, a step; between two and three, a step; between three and four, a half-step; between four and five, a step; between five and six, a step; between six and seven, a step; and between seven and eight, a half-step.

NOTE.—The terms tone and half-tone are in common use to designate these intervals; but, as the application of the same word both to sounds and intervals is inconvenient, the discontinuance of the term tone and half-tone is recommended, especially in teaching. As the word ladder (scale) is used for designating the series of tones called the scale, it is quite natural to carry out the figure, and borrow from the ladder the word step, by which to designate scale-intervals.

§ 49. The scale thus explained is called the MAJOR SCALE.

CHAPTER IV.
CHROMATIC SCALE.

§ 50. In addition to the scale already mentioned, called the Diatonic Scale, there is another scale formed by the introduction of intermediate tones between those tones of the Diatonic Scale, which are separated by the interval of a step. This scale consists of thirteen tones, and twelve intervals of a half-step each; it is called the CHROMATIC SCALE.

§ 51. The intermediate tones are named from either of the Diatonic Scale-tones between which they occur, with the addition of sharp or flat prefixed or annexed. Thus, the intermediate tone between one and two may be named SHARP ONE, or FLAT TWO.

§ 52. Characters called SHARPS and FLATS are used as signs of the intermediate tones, or of the tones named Sharp or Flat.

§ 53. Sharps or Flats (signs) are canceled by a character called a NATURAL.

§ 54. Chromatic Scale represented.

EXAMPLE.

Names.	One,	sharp one,	two,	sharp two,	three,	four,	sharp four,	five,	sharp five,	six,	sharp six,	seven,	eight.
Pitch.	C,	C \sharp ,	D,	D \sharp ,	E,	F,	F \sharp ,	G,	G \sharp ,	A,	A \sharp ,	B,	C.
Syllables.	Do,	di,	re,	ri,	mi,	fa,	fi,	sol,	si,	la,	li,	si,	do.

Eight,	seven,	flat seven,	six,	flat six,	five,	flat five,	four,	three,	flat three,	two,	flat two,	one.
C,	B,	B \flat ,	A,	A \flat ,	G,	G \flat ,	F,	E,	E \flat ,	D,	D \flat ,	C.
Do,	si,	so,	la,	le,	sol,	sa,	fa,	mi,	me,	re,	ra,	do.

NOTE.—The letter f should always receive the sound of ee in the above syllables; thus, Di is pronounced Dee, Ri is pronounced Ree, &c. Again, the letter a should always receive the sound of the English long a, so that Si is pronounced See, Le is pronounced Lee, &c.

§ 55. The characters called sharps and flats continue their significance throughout the measure in which they occur, and also from measure to measure, when the same tone is repeated, or until canceled by a note written upon some other degree of the staff.

NOTE 1.—The teacher should be careful to cause his pupils to understand that $C\sharp$ is not C raised or elevated, and that $D\flat$ is not D lowered or depressed, but that the tone $C\sharp$ or $D\flat$ (by which ever name it may be called) is an independent tone, being in pitch between C and D. It is not possible to elevate or to depress the pitch of a tone. Absolute pitch is, of course, unalterable. The error here pointed out is found in many treatises on music, see "Manual of the Boston Academy of Music," and various other works.

NOTE 2.—The name of this character is an unfortunate one, since its tendency is to mislead the pupil. It signifies not that one tone is in fact more natural than another—indeed it does not apply to the tone, but merely to the previous mark (flat or sharp), showing that its significance is now at an end.

NOTE 3.—The teacher is advised never to use the term natural in connection with the names of notes, or to speak of C natural, B natural, or natural one, natural four, &c., but to say simply C, or D, or E, or one, or four, &c. $C\sharp$ is just as natural a tone as is C, and so of all the tones of the Chromatic Scale, one is as natural as another, and a little child who chooses the pitch of a song, is as likely to commence with $C\sharp$ as with C, &c.

THE MINOR SCALE.

§ 56. In addition to the Scales already explained, there is another, differing from those in the relation or succession of its tones, or in the order of its intervals, called the MINOR SCALE.

§ 57. There are two forms of Minor Scale in common use, called respectively the Harmonic Minor Scale, and the Melodic Minor Scale.

REPRESENTATIONS.

§ 58. Every Major Scale has its relative Minor, and every Minor Scale has its relative Major.

§ 59. The relative Minor to any Major Scale is based upon its sixth, and the relative Major to any Minor Scale is based upon its third.

NOTE.—The distinguishing feature of the major and minor scales is the third. The major scale is known by its major third, and the minor scale is known by its minor third.

CHAPTER V.

TRANSPOSITION OF THE SCALE.

§ 60. When any other pitch than that of C is taken as one, the scale is said to be TRANSPOSED. Thus G may be taken as one, in which case the scale is said to be transposed to G, or to the Key of G.

§ 61. In transposing the scale, it is necessary to reject some of the tones in the given key, or the key from which the transposition is to be made, and to introduce in the new key certain intermediate tones, so that the scale-relationship may be preserved, or so that the scale-model or scale-pattern, as in C, may not be broken.

§ 62. The natural order of transposing the scale is by fifths or by fourths; in these transpositions there is but one tone in the given scale which will not be required in the new scale; consequently, but one new tone (intermediate) will be required to form the new scale. The scales of one and of its fifth, or of one and of its fourth, are, therefore, said to be closely related.

§ 63. First transposition by fifths from C to G. In this transposition the tone F is dropped, and the tone F sharp is introduced, and thus the proper form of the scale is secured. The sign or SIGNATURE of the Key of G is one sharp.

§ 64. Second transposition by fifths from G to D. C is dropped, and C sharp is introduced. The Signature of the Key of D is two sharps.

§ 65. To preserve scale-relationship, or the proper order of intervals between six and seven, and between seven and eight, in this transposition, it is necessary to take $C\sharp$ as seven in the new key.

§ 66. The sign of $C\sharp$ is placed at the beginning of the staff, a little to the right of the previous sharp, and the two sharps are taken together as the sign of the key, or as the signature.

EXAMPLE. KEY OF D.

Names.	One,	two,	three,	four,	five,	six,	seven,	eight.
Pitch.	D,	E,	$F\sharp$,	G,	A,	B,	$C\sharp$,	D.
Syllables.	Do,	re,	mi,	fa,	sol,	la,	si,	do.

ELEMENTS OF MUSIC.

ILLUSTRATION.

Five, six, seven, one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight.

One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight.

§ 67. Third transposition of the Scale by fifths, from D to A. G♯ is sharp four to D. G♯, therefore, is next introduced.

§ 68. Fourth transposition of the Scale by fifths; from A to E. D♯ is sharp four to A.

§ 69. Fifth transposition by fifths; from E to B. A♯ is sharp four to E.

§ 70. First transposition of the Scale by fourths; from C to F.

§ 71. To preserve the identity of the Scale, or the proper order of intervals between three and four, and between four and five, in this transposition, it is necessary to take B♭ as four in the new key. B♭ is, therefore, the signature to the key of F.

EXAMPLE. KEY OF F.

Names.	One,	two,	three,	four,	five,	six,	seven,	eight.
Pitch.	F,	G,	A,	B♭,	C,	D,	E,	F.
Syllables.	Do,	re,	mi,	fa,	sol,	la,	si,	do.

ILLUSTRATION.

One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, two, three, four, five.

One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight.

NOTE.—B♭ is taken for four, and not A♯, so that the proper nomenclature may be preserved, and that the proper relations may be made to appear to the eye in written music; or that the Scale may be represented by the regularly successive degrees of the Staff.

§ 72. It will be observed that, in the foregoing transposition from C to F, the p of the Scale has been removed a fourth; and the intermediate tone, B♭, or flat se has been found necessary to preserve the proper order of the intervals. Hence the following rule: "Flat seven transposes the Scale a fourth;" or "The tone of transposit between any key and its fourth, is flat seven."

§ 73. Second transposition of the Scale by fourths; from F to B♭.

§ 74. To preserve the proper order of intervals between three and four, and betw four and five, in this transposition, it is necessary to take B♭ as four in the new key.

§ 75. The sign of B♭ is placed a little to the right of the previous flat, and the flats are taken as the signature.

§ 76. Third transposition of the Scale by fourths; from B♭ to E♭. A♭ is flat se to B♭. A♭, therefore, is the next flat introduced.

§ 77. Fourth transposition of the Scale by fourths; from E♭ to A♭. D♭ is flat se to E♭. D♭, therefore, is the next flat introduced.

§ 78. Fifth transposition by fourths; from A♭ to D♭. G♭ is flat seven to A♭.

CHAPTER VI.

DYNAMICS.

DEGREES OF POWER.

§ 79. Mezzo. A musical sound of medium power or force is called Mezzo (pronounced met-zo); such a sound is indicated by the term mezzo, or by an abbreviat of it, as mez., or by its initial, m.

§ 80. Piano. A tone somewhat softer than Mezzo, or a soft tone, is called Pi (pee-ah-pi), and is indicated by the term piano, pi. or p.

§ 81. Forte. A tone somewhat louder than Mezzo, or a loud tone, is called Fo (forte, or four-te), and is indicated by the term forte, for. or f.

§ 82. Pianissimo. A tone softer than Piano is called PIANISSIMO (pee-ah-niss-i-n) and is indicated by pp.

§ 83. Fortissimo. A tone louder than Forte is called FORTISSIMO (fore-tiss-i-n) and is indicated by ff.

NOTE 1.—There are also modifications of the above-mentioned degrees of power, as Mezzo-Pi Mezzo-Piano.

NOTE 1.—Mezzo, Piano, and Forte are Italian words, which are universally used as technical terms in music.

NOTE 2.—The instrument called the Piano-Forte derives its name from these words. It should not be called Piano-Fort, but Piano-Forte.

FORM OF TONES.

§ 84. Organ Form. A Tone commenced, continued, and ended with an equal degree of power, is called an ORGAN FORM, or ORGAN TONE. It may be indicated by parallel lines, thus:

NOTE 1.—The Organ Form takes its name from the organ pipe, which can only produce a tone of one equal degree of power.

NOTE 2.—The Organ Form is not often used in vocal music, except in passages in which one part holds a steady tone for a considerable time, while the other parts sing various harmonies.

§ 85. Crescendo Form. A tone commencing Piano, and gradually increasing to Forte, is called CRESCENDO (cre-schen-do). It is indicated by cres., or by two divergent lines, thus:

§ 86. Diminuendo Form. A tone commencing Forte, and gradually diminishing to Piano, is called DECRESCENDO or DIMINUENDO (de-cre-schen-do or dim-in-oo-en-do.) It is indicated by decrea. dim. or by two convergent lines, thus:

§ 87. Swell. An union of the Crescendo and the Decrescendo produces the SWELL FORM: indicated by the union of the divergent and convergent lines, thus:

NOTE 1.—The swell is sometimes called the Drum Tone; the term Messa di voce is also used to designate this tone form.

NOTE 2.—The acquisition of this form of tone is one of the most difficult things in the art of song. It constitutes the polish or finishing touch in artistic excellence. "It is the result," says Garcia, in his admirable "School of Singing," "of all other studies;" and again, "to draw the tones well is to be a good singer."

NOTE 3.—The application of Crescendo and Diminuendo to phrases and sections, or to passages of several measures, is comparatively easy, and constitutes one of the greatest beauties of choir singing.

§ 88. Pressure Form. A very sudden Crescendo or Swell is called the PRESSURE FORM: It is thus marked, < or <img alt="Diagram of Pressure Form: a less-than sign (<) or a less-than sign with a diamond shape inside ()." data-bbox="250 700 265 715"/>

NOTE.—This dynamic form is sometimes used to express ridicule, sarcasm, or irony. It belongs mostly to burlesque, to the ludicrous, or to comic, in singing.

§ 89. Sforzando. A tone which is produced very suddenly and forcibly, and instantly diminished, is called an EXPLOSIVE TONE; or SFORZANDO, or FORZANDO (sfort-zan-do or fort-zan-do.) It is designated thus >, or by sf. or fz.

NOTE 1.—This tone-form is of great importance both to the speaker and to the singer. The energetic style of singing, as in many of Handel's choruses, for example, is much dependent upon it; indeed, some degree of it is always needed in the very first utterance of the voice, for without it the tone will be destitute of life and expression. Its power is distinctly felt in the manner in which good performers on stringed or wind instruments produce their tones, or in the very first utterance of a note, or in the manner in which the attack is made upon it. Much of the dullness, heaviness, stupidity, and lifelessness so prevalent in vocal music, and especially in choir-singing, is to be attributed to the absence of this dynamic form of delivery. It is by no means intended that every tone should be given Sforzando: far indeed from this, but the element of Sforzando is to tones the life-giving power. It is, however, very liable to be overdone, and even caricatured; it requires, therefore, much discretion in its application, for, unless it be directed by good taste, it will be likely to degenerate into a mere lunging or jerking of the voice, grunt-like, coarse and disagreeable.

NOTE 2.—The mark indicating the pressure form of tone is often printed, instead of that which indicates the Forzando. The observance of the mark, as thus erroneously applied, would, in many cases, be quite ludicrous. The mark is often applied in this form, ^.

LEGATO, STACCATO, AND PAUSE

§ 90. Legato. When successive tones are performed in a closely connected manner, so as to be bound into one another, or interwoven, they are said to be sung LEGATO (Le-ga-to, or Le-gah-to). The Legato is indicated by a curved line, () called a legato mark. The same character is called a Tie when it is placed over two notes of the same degree of the staff.

NOTE.—This character is often used to show how many tones are to be sung to one syllable.

§ 91. Staccato. When notes are delivered in a short, pointed, distinct, or very articulate manner, they are said to be STACCATO (Stac-kä-to, or Stac-kah-to). Staccato is indicated by points, thus: (| | | |).

§ 92. Marcato. A less degree of Staccato, or MARCATO, is indicated by dots, thus: (. . . .).

§ 93. Pause. When the duration of a tone is prolonged beyond the time indicated by the note by which it is represented, such prolongation is called a PAUSE, and the character by which it is indicated receives the same name ().

NOTE.—The pause is often called the Hold.

SINGING SCHOOL MUSIC.

When the teacher shall have introduced the scale, quarter notes, staff and clefs, the following lessons may be commenced. There will be found written over the lessons the new topics to be introduced and practiced upon, before the lesson is sung. The order commonly found in singing books is observed in the arrangement of rules and explanations, but not in the lessons. Whatever is needed is brought in, and it is thought that teachers will generally agree that many things, commonly supposed to be among the last, are properly among the first to be studied, as for example, the different movements—Adagio, Andante, &c.—and the dynamic forms. Be careful that each lesson has its proper expression.

No. 1.

VOCALIZING EXERCISES AND SOLFEGGIOS.

This scale, or a simple melody like the one here written, should be practiced with such words as the following, especially with reference to the vowel and consonant elements, for improvement in pronunciation and enunciation. Lo, Me, No, Vic, Tho', Fay, Joy, Ha, Wo, Caw, Pay, Tre, Go, Buy, Do, Ney, and words having such beginnings and endings as may be found on page 6, first each word separately, then such combinations as the teacher may choose. The following are some of the ways the scale or a melody may be practiced to advantage:

(Other vowel elements, separately and combined, legato and staccato.)

La, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la. La, la, la, la, la, la, la, la.

(Other words, separately and in combination, with especial reference to enunciation.)

Do, re, mi, fa, sol, la, si, do, re, mi. Mi, re, do, si, la, sol, fa, mi, re, do.
Come to the uni-low doll, so green and fair, Join with the happy group assembled there.

With these last lines comes another requirement, viz: such a style in performance as will express the idea contained in them, in an elegant and forcible manner; and this will be partly in proportion to the thoroughness of the previous work. To recapitulate: what will be necessary to the successful performance of this lesson, or any other vocal music, in addition to singing in time and tune? First, a good tone. This will depend much upon position, management of breath, and position of mouth, throat and vocal organs. Secondly, good articulation.—This includes both pronunciation and enunciation: and thirdly, a good, expressive style of performance.—This will be dependent upon both tone and articulation, and, in addition, upon that true conception and feeling which is found only in hearts filled with love for this glorious art.

Tenor and Soprano may sing this, while Alto and Base sing the previous lesson, if desired.

(With same elements and words as preceding lesson.)

Mi, fa, sol, la, si, do, re, mi, fa, sol. Sol, fa, mi, re, do, si, la, sol, fa, mi.

VOCALIZING EXERCISES,*

1. Cleanse me, O Lord—and cheer my soul With thy for-giv-ing love; Oh, make my wounded spi-rit whole, And bid my pains re-move.

2. Let not thy Spi-rit e'er de-part; Nor drive me from thy face; Cro-ate a-new my sin-ful heart, And fill it with thy grace.

3. Then will I make thy mer-cy known Be-fore the sons of men; Back-slid-ers shall ad-dress thy throne, And turn to God a-gain.

In mer-cy, Lord, re-mem-ber me, Thro' all the hours of night, And grant to me most gra-cious-ly The safeguard of thy night.

2. With joy shall we stand, when es-caped to the shore, With harps in our hands we will praise him the more.

Escap'd sin and un-clean-ness, for ev - ery trans-gression, His blood flows most freely in streams of sal - vation, His blood flows most freely in streams of sal - va-tion.

We'll range the sweet plains on the banks of the river, And sing of sal - va-tion for ev - er and ev - er, And sing of sal - va-tion for ev - er and ev - er.

Halle-lu - jah to the Lamb, who has brought us a pardon, We'll praise him a - gain, when we pass o - ver Jordan, We'll praise him a - gain, when we pass o - ver Jordan.

And soft, the sounds, &c.
Each anx ious care, &c.

How sweet, how calm this Sabbath morn, How pure the air that breathes, . . . And soft the sounds up-on it borne, And light its va - por wreathes.

c. Let each un - ho - ly pas-sion cease, Each e-vil thought be crush'd, . . . Each anxious care that mars thy peace, In faith and love be hush'd.

And soft, the sounds, &c.
Each anx ious care, &c.

It seems as if the Christian's prayer For peace, and joy, and love, Were answer'd by the ve - ry air That wafts its strain a-bove.

HYMN. "Thy will be done."

WITH EXPRESSION. MAY BE APPROPRIATE ON GENERAL OCCASIONS, AND AT OTHER TIMES OF AFFLICTION.

1. Thy will be done; in de-vi-ous way The hur-ry-ing stream of life may run; Yet still our grateful hearts shall say, Thy will be done, Thy will be done.

Thy will be done; if o'er us shine A gladd'ning and a prosperous sun, This prayer will make it more di-vine, Thy will be done, Thy will be done.

Thy will be done; tho' shrouded o'er Our path with gloom, one comfort, one Is ours—to breathe, while we a-dore, Thy will be done, Thy will be done.

PSALM I.

1. Blessed is the man
That walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly,
Nor standeth in the way of sinners,
Nor sitteth in the | seat... of the | scornful;
2. But his delight is in the law of the Lord,
And in his law doth he | medi-tate | day and | night.
3. And he shall be like a tree
Planted by the rivers of water,
That bringeth forth his | fruit... in his | season.
4. His leaf also shall not wither;
And whatso- | ver... he | doeth... shall | prosper.
5. The ungodly are not so;
But are like the chaff which the wind | driveth...n-
| way.
6. Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment,
Nor sinners in the coun- | ce- | tion | of the | righteous.
7. For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous,
But the way of the un- | godly... shall | perish.
8. The Lord knoweth the way of the righteous,
But the | way... of th' un- | godly... shall | perish.

No. 2.

PSALM CXXVIII.

1. Blessed is every one that feareth the Lord;
That walketh | in his | ways.
2. For thou shalt eat the labor of thine hands:
Happy shalt thou be, and it | shall be | well with
| thee.
3. The wife shall be as a fruitful vine by the | side of...
thy | house:
4. Thy children like olive-plants, | round a- | bout thy
| table.
5. Behold, that thus shall the man be blessed
That | feareth... the | Lord.
6. Thus shall the man be | blessed... that | feareth... the
| Lord.
7. The Lord shall bless thee out of Zion:
And thou shalt see the good of Jerusalem all the | days... of thy | life.
8. Yea, thou shalt see thy children's children,
And | peace up- | on— | Israel.

No. 3.

PSALM CXXX.

1. Out of the depths have I cried unto | thee, O | Lord.
2. Lord, hear my voice;
Let thine ears be attentive to the | voice of... my
| suppli- | cations.
3. If thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities,
O Lord, | who shall | stand.
4. But there is forgiveness with thee,
That | thou— | mayest... be | feared.

* From "Mason's Book of Chants."

5. I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait,
And in his | word... do I | hope.
6. My soul waiteth for the Lord
More than they that watch for the morning,
I say, | more than... they that | watch... for the | morning.
7. Let Israel hope in the Lord:
For with the Lord there is mercy,
And with him is | plenteous...re- | demption.
8. And he shall redeem Israel
From | all— | his in- | iquities.

PSALM XXIII.

1. The Lord is my shepherd; I | shall not | want.
2. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the | still— | waters.
3. He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me
In the paths of righteousness for his | name's— | sake.
4. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil: for thou art with me;
Thy rod and thy | staff they | comfort me.
5. Thou preparest a table before me
In the presence of mine enemies:
Thou anointest my head with oil;
My | cup... runneth | over.
6. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me
All the days of my life;
And I shall dwell in the house of the | Lord...
| ever.

PSALM XXIV.

CHORUS.

1. The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof,
The world, and they that dwell there- in ;
2. For he hath founded it upon the seas,
And established it upon the floods.

SOLO.

3. Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord?
And who shall stand in his holy place!

CHORUS.

4. He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart;
Who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity,
Nor sworn deceitfully.
5. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord,
And righteousness from the God of his salvation.
6. This is the generation of them that seek him,
That seek thy face, O Jacob.
7. Lift up your heads, O ye gates;
And be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors;
And the King of Glory shall come in.

8. Solo. Who is this King of Glory?
Chorus. The Lord, strong and mighty;
The Lord—mighty in battle.

9. Lift up your heads, O ye gates;
Even lift them up, ye everlasting doors;
And the King of Glory shall come in.

10. Solo. Who is this King of Glory?
Chorus. The Lord of hosts, He is the King of Glory.

PSALM CXXII.

1. I was glad when they said unto me,
Let us go into the house of the Lord.
2. Our feet shall stand within thy gates, O Jerusalem, Jerusalem is builded as a city that is compact together.
3. Whither the tribes go up; the tribes of the Lord,
Unto the testimony of Israel,
To give thanks unto the name of the Lord.
4. For there are set thrones of judgment,
The thrones of the house of David.
5. Pray for the peace of Jerusalem,
They shall prosper that love thee.
6. Peace be within thy walls;
And prosperity within thy palaces.
7. For my brethren and companions' sakes,
I will now say, Peace be within thee.
8. Because of the house of the Lord our God,
I will seek, will seek thy good.

SEARCHING AFTER GOD.

1. Thou Maker of my vital frame,
Unveil thy face, pronounce thy name;
Shine to my sight, and let the ear
Which thou hast formed, thy language bear;
Divide ye clouds, and let me see
The Power that gives me leave to be.
2. Where is thy residence! Oh! why
Dost thou avoid my searching eye;
Mysterious being! Great Unknown,
Say, do the clouds conceal thy throne!
Or art thou all diffus'd abroad,
Through boundless space, a present God?
3. Is there not some delightful art
To feel thy presence at my heart!
To hear thy whispers soft and kind,
In holy silence of the mind!
Then rest my thoughts; no longer roam
In quest of joy—for heaven's at home!

Gloria Patri.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son,
And to the Holy Ghost;
As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be,

PSALM CXVIII, 14, 15, 19, 20, 21, 29.

1. The Lord is my strength and song,
And is become | my sal- | vation.
2. The voice of rejoicing and salvation
Is in the tabernacles of the righteous:
The right | hand of the | Lord doeth | valiantly.
3. Open to me the gates of righteousness:
I will go into them, and I will | praise the | Lord;
4. This gate of the Lord,
Into | which the | righteous... shall | enter.
5. I will praise thee; for thou hast heard me,
And art become | my sal- | vation.
6. O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good;
For his | mer...cy en- | dureth... for | ever,

Gloria Patri.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son,
And to the Holy Ghost;

HUMBLE DEVOTION.

1. From the recesses of a lowly spirit,
My humble pray'r ascends—O | Father, | hear it!
Borne on the trembling wings of fear and meekness:
For- | give its | weakness.
2. I know—I feel how mean, and how unworthy
The lowly sacrifice I | pour be- | fore thee:
What can I offer thee, O Thou most holy!
But | sin and | folly.
3. Lord, in thy sight, who ev'ry bosom viewest,
Cold in our warmest vows, and | vain our | trust;
Thoughts of a hurrying hour—our lips repeat them—
Our | hearts for- | get them.
4. We see thy hand—it leads us—it supports us:
We hear thy voice—it | counsels... and it | courts us;
And then we turn away; and still thy kindness
For- | gives our | blindness!
5. Who can resist thy gentle call, appealing
To ev'ry gen'rous thought and | grateful | feeling!
Oh! who can hear the accents of thy mercy,
And | never | love thee.
6. Kind Benefactor! plant within this bosom
The | seeds of | holiness, and let them blossom
In fragrance; and in beauty bright and vernal,
And | spring e- | ternal.
7. Then place them in those everlasting gardens,
Where angels walk, and | seraphs... are the | wardens;
Where ev'ry flow'r, brought safe through death's dark portal,
Be- | comes im- | mortal.

Hark! hark! to God the chorus breaks,
From every host, from | every | gem:
But one alone the Saviour speaks—
It is the | Star, the | Star of | Bethlehem.
2. Once on the raging seas I rode;
The storm was loud, the | night was | dark,
The ocean yaw'n'd, and rudely blow'd
The wind that | tost my | tenuous | bark,
Deep horror then my veins froze,
Death-struck, I ceas'd the | title to | stress;
